You may have heard the new 2019 Color Trends have a similar color palette to last year's trends. Watching last years' color trends before and after the announcement of the new, there was a visible shift. Not only did designers show their interest in stripes, but they showed less interest overall in pastel colors. But this year's trends are even more colorful! Complementary colors are going to be a big theme this year, so it wouldn't be a surprise if complementary was the 2018 color trend. And while they're great for drafting and designing, they may be too distracting for some elements. Straight-up color is a popular choice, and is especially handy for creating a sense of strong identity and a design that stands out from the crowd. If you're more interested in gender-neutral or gender-focused colors, there's a lot of them. These are one of the most sought after trends today. We'll show you some examples. When you are working on a design, it is more than just the elements that make up your design. It's the thoughts, emotions, and thoughts on how you want your audience to feel that many times, are reflected back in your design. It's important to keep these considerations in mind. This release allows you to use the Shadow and Highlight tools within Live View and create adjustment layers for those shadows and highlights. You can also crop using the Live View window, make adjustments to your pasted images, and save those changes after each adjustment layer is applied. These features make it possible to have total control of every pixel on your images, regardless of their type.
